CAVALRY TROOP IS RUSHED TO DEFEND BORDER TOWN

Terlingua, Brewster County, Texas, is Menaced by Cattle Rustlers and Half-starved Insurrectos, Who Are Reported to be Headed for This Lonely Outpost on Pillage Bent--Hard Country for Marching.

MUST CROSS PARCHED DESERT

General Duncan Sends Infantry to Guard Steel Bridge Across Pecos River—Tells Reporters He Fears Use of Dynamite to Prevent Westward Movement of Troops and Says Army Mules Not Yet Trained to Use of Scaling Ladders.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—Lieutenant Summerville and a troop of the Third cavalry are riding their hardest over the worst country in the southwest to get to Terlingua, Brewster county, Texas, ahead of a band of Mexican cattle rustlers and half-starved insurrectos, who are reported to be headed on pillage bent against this lonely outpost of the United States. Brigadier General Joseph W. Duncan, commander of the department of Texas and stationed at Fort Sam Houston, not only ordered that troop out on its 95-mile hike over the Bad Lands, but he is moving other bodies of cavalry and infantry to threatened points along the border, preparing for threatened trouble.

The hike that Lieutenant Summerville and his troops are making is likely to go down as the sternest effort of all this border bushwhacking and mysterious maneuvering at the camp of the mobilized division at Fort Sam Houston. Marathon is a little more than a water tank and two saloons on the edge of the mountains, and for a distance of 100 miles to the Rio Grande there is a wilderness of parched desert. A single telephone line links Marathon with Terlingua and Lagita, down below there, with the rest of the world.

Looks Like Real War. Before the cavalry troop can reach Terlingua it will have to pass over the Rattlesnake mountains and skirt around the base of the Panther range. Water holes are from 15 to 45 miles apart on the line of march. General Duncan said, and it is a bad, bad trail. The cavalry is expected to reach its destination either tonight or tomorrow morning.

The arrival of a company of the Twenty-third infantry at the Pecos river bridge was in answer to the call for protection which came from the Southern Pacific people last week.

"Why did I send troops out to guard that bridge?" General Duncan echoed a query. "Why, just because if the time should suddenly come when we wanted to move an army westward, we'd have a devil of a time doing it if that bridge was blown up. The walls of the canyon on either side are straight up and down, and though we might use scaling ladders to get over, the army mule has not yet been taught to get across by using scaling ladders. That bridge is only about five miles from the border, and we're not taking any chances on railroad communication being tied up for a year by a touch of dynamite."

Nine Killed by Fall of Slate. Pittsburg, March 23.—Nine miners were crushed to death by a fall of slate in the Hazel mine of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company at East Canonsburg, Pa. Eight of the men killed were foreigners. The nine men were riding on a coal car into the mine. The car jumped the track and knocked down a number of posts supporting the roof of the mine. The roof fell on the men crushing them to death.

VICTOR BERGER

Milwaukee Socialist Explains Slump in Vote.

Socialist Congressman Explains Defeat

Berger Says They Defeated Socialist Nominees in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, March 23.—Alderman Victor Berger, congressman-elect, Socialist leader and spokesman, disclaims all responsibility for the defeat of all but two of the Socialist nominees for school directors at the primary.

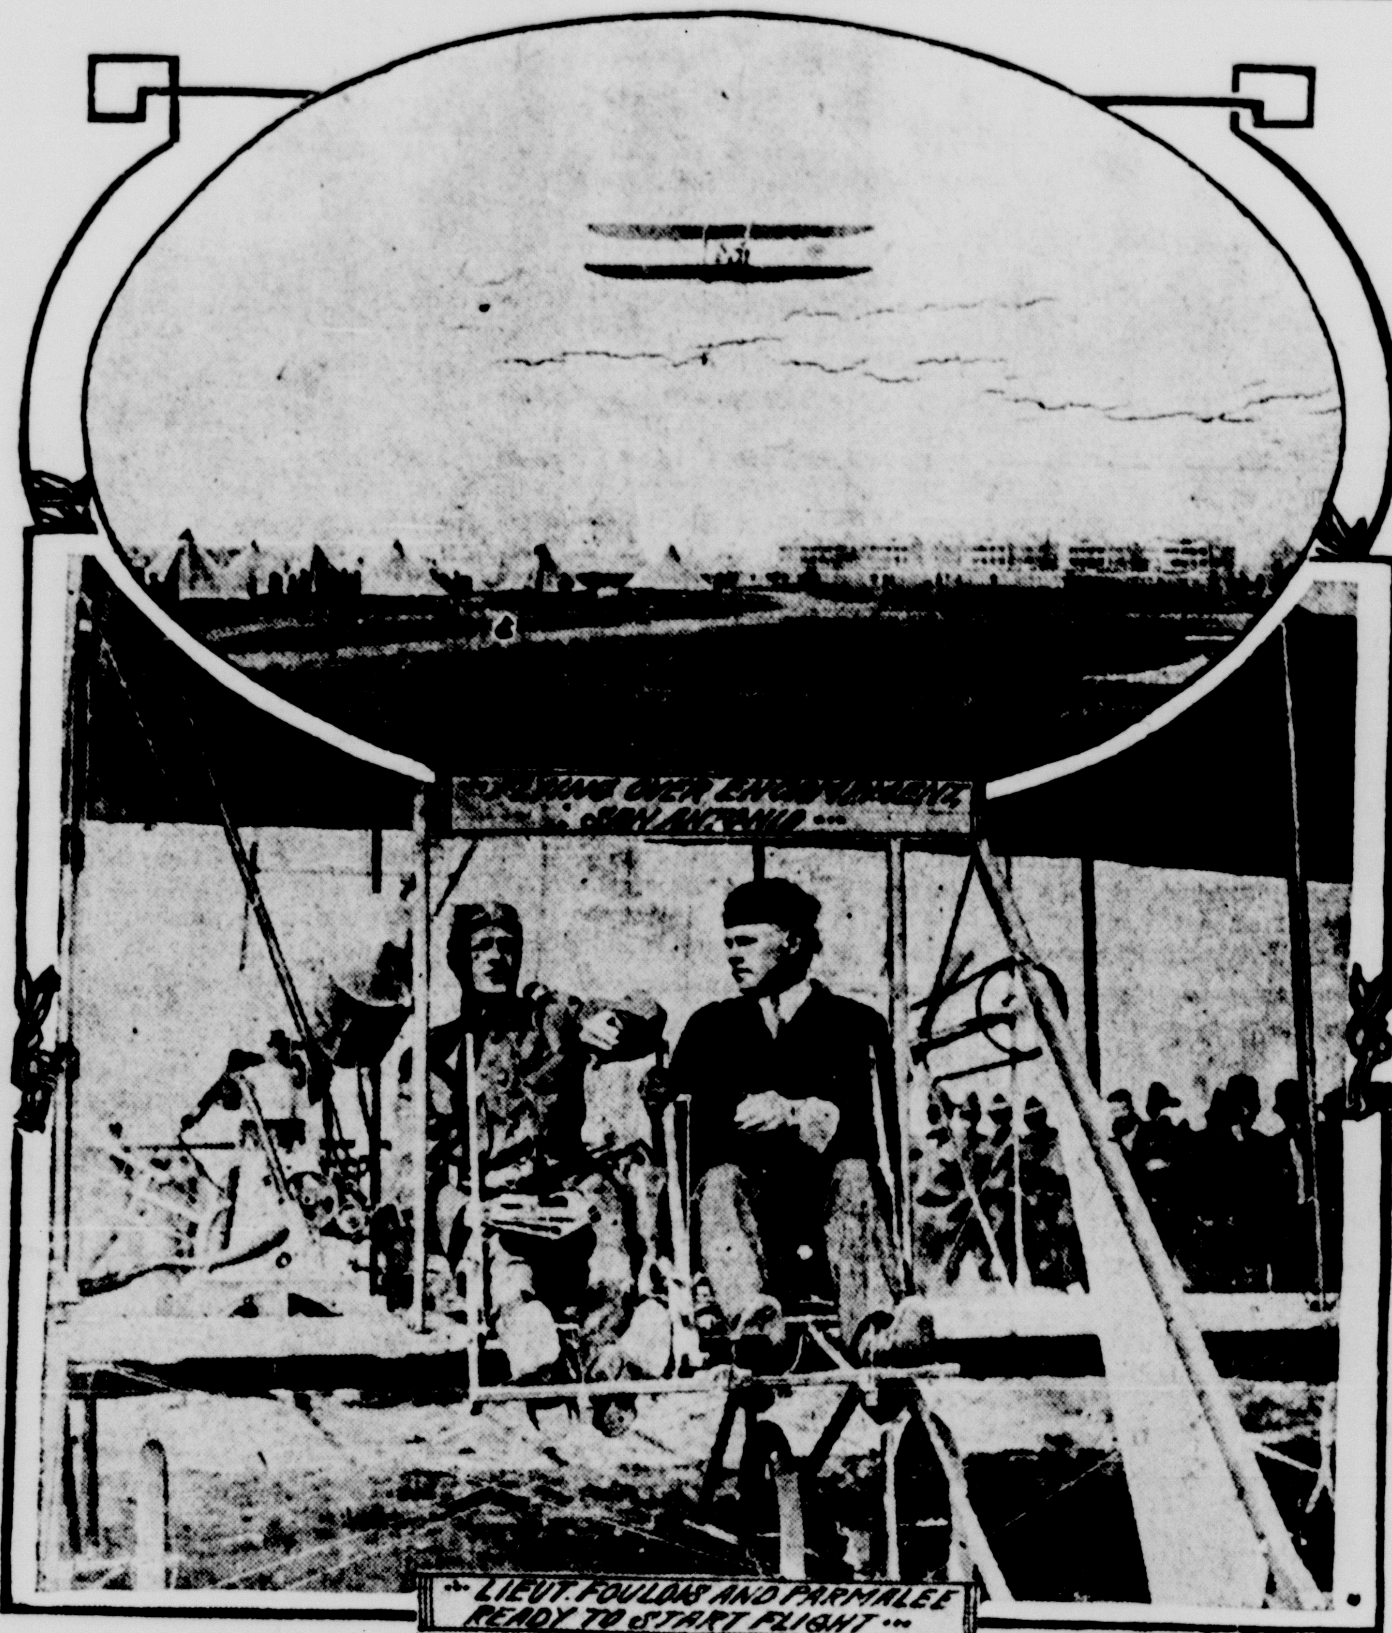

"The election was a complete victory for the Catholic church," said Berger. "We have nothing against religion. We made no light on any religion. Religion is a private matter with us and many of our men are religious. Probably one-third of our members are Roman Catholics. But we will oppose and fight any church which goes into politics. We don't think the church has any business in politics. Now the Roman Catholic church is going into politics and is reaching out to dominate the public schools."

HOLDS COLLEGE RECORD

Ohio Has More Institutions of Learning Than England.

Columbus, O., March 23.—The Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching, in the annual report of the president, gave as a reason for its refusal to accept Ohio State university the fact that there are 51 chartered colleges and universities in this state, more than are possessed by the British Isles, with a population nine times as great. The foundation has already accepted five Ohio schools—Case, Cincinnati, Marietta, Oberlin and Western Reserve.

Aeroplane In Use by Lieutenant Foulois and Philip Parmalee at War Maneuvers, San Antonio, Tex.

The maneuvers of the United States troops on the Mexican border are furnishing splendid opportunity for the demonstration of the practicability of the aeroplane for army purposes. The upper picture shows the army's premier aviator, Lieutenant Benjamin D. Foulois of the signal corps, in flight. In the lower picture Lieutenant Foulois is seated in his machine with Philip Parmalee of the Wright staff of aviators preparatory to a flight. Lieutenant Foulois is probably the smallest officer physically in the service. In height and weight he is almost a counter-part of the late General Joe Wheeler, who was about five feet four inches in height and weighed about 100 pounds. Lieutenant Foulois is a native of Connecticut and is thirty-one years old. He enlisted as a private and rose through every noncommissioned rank to his present position.

PRESIDENT DECLARES WAR TALK IS ALL BOSH

Holds Love Feast With Uchida, the Japanese Ambassador--- War Scare of "the Yellow Journals" Put on the Everlasting Bum—Explains Reason for Massing Troops on the Border.

CABINET DISCUSSES MEXICO

Belief Is Freely Expressed That Situation Not Nearly So Serious as Represented and That Diaz Will Triumph in the End—Minister of Finance Limantour Talked Too Much and Gave Backset to His Own Presidential Boom.

Washington, March 23.—The Japanese war scare was put out of business by President Taft, who summoned Baron Uchida, the Japanese ambassador, to the White House, and in a long conversation assured him that there is no foundation for the reports that this government, in ordering the troops to Texas and the Mexican border, had one eye directed across the Pacific.

Primarily the president called in the Japanese ambassador to congratulate him upon the consummation of the negotiations for the treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Japan. The formal exchange of treaties between the two nations will be made on April 4. The president told the Japanese ambassador that never so far as his knowledge permitted him to speak, had the relations between the United States and Japan been more friendly.

The president told callers that he was very much surprised when he returned from his southern vacation to find reports of trouble with Japan flying through the air. The president told his visitors that such reports were most ridiculous and unwarranted.

Adopted "Hands Off" Policy.

The Mexican tangle was taken up by the cabinet. It was the first meeting of the presidential official family in three weeks, but other business was of secondary importance compared to the discussion of the Texas maneuvers and the situation in the republic south of the Rio Grande. It was decided at the cabinet meeting that it is now time for this government to "stand pat." Affairs in Mexico and in Texas just at present are in statu quo, and no further demonstration of any kind is contemplated. The administration advisers feel that there is nothing that this government can do at present, and that it is best that Mexico be left entirely free to see if she can work out her own salvation.

There was a feeling among some members of the cabinet at least that the two factions in Mexico will get together, despite the announcements to the contrary of the insurrecto juntas in various cities in the United States.

There was also expressed a belief that President Diaz and his government are not in such bad shape as has been reported. Notwithstanding the belief, there is great interest in official circles as to who might succeed Diaz. There is little doubt that Washington was inclined to look with favor for a time upon Finance Minister Limantour, but since the minister gave out interviews criticizing the United States for attempting to "coerce" Mexico by sending the troops to Texas, his stock has fallen considerably here.

FAMILY WIPED OUT

Texans Object to Marriage of White Woman to Negro.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—A. L. Cassoway, 52, a negro, Elizabeth Cassoway, 37, his white wife, and their three children, 6 years, 3 years, and 15 months, were found murdered in their home here. They were evidently killed as they slept.

Each of the victims had been struck repeatedly on the head with an ax, which was found in the room. Cassoway and his wife were married in Mexico, and the fact that the woman was white caused a bitter feeling against them in the neighborhood.

YOUNT

Bill Meets Defeat in the Senate

After Severe Battle Between Wets and Drys

One Vote Changed Would Have Placed the Victory With the Wets.

MEASURE DEFENDED BY YOUNT

Declares People Demand Change in Present Method of Procedure by Which Drys Drag Rose Law Violators Before Justices Favorable to Cause—Shaffer Woman's Reformatory Bill Passes Senate—Ottmer Presents Bills to Abandon Canals.

Columbus, O., March 23.—By a vote of 12 yeas and 17 nays, the senate killed the Yount bill to take away from mayors and magistrates final jurisdiction in the cases of alleged bootleggers.

Senator Andrews of Lawrence county, who voted for the Dean municipal local option bill, made the chief argument against the Yount bill. He declared he was opposed to the bill to be consistent with his vote for the Dean bill. He said he had voted for the Dean bill because the authorities were unable to control the evil in the larger cities which had been voted dry by the Rose law. He was voting against this bill, he said, because it would take away from the authorities the club they now have to control the evil.

Senator Yount in his speech favoring the bill declared there is a demand for the bill because of the abuse which the drys are making of the present law by dragging violators of the Rose option law all over the county before magistrates who were known to be favorable to the dry element, and who would convict. He said the opposition to the bill came from mayors and magistrates who did not care to part with the fees they were receiving from these kind of cases.

Yount's bill would have made "bootlegging" punishable by imprisonment and thereby ensure jury trials.

In the house the temperance committee is ready to report out the Fulton cities bill to give local option on the liquor question to the 82 cities of Ohio. The dry members of the temperance committee refused to attend the meeting. It probably will be reported tomorrow.

Recommends Sunday Ball.

The senate committee on municipal affairs recommended the Greeves Sunday baseball bill for passage.

The Irvin bill, to require the deposits of building and loan associations to be listed for taxation, is dead. It sleeps quietly in the house committee on taxation, which heard two hours of arguments against the measure. H. V. Haymaker of De fiance charged that the bill was planned by bankers to put the building and loan companies out of business. Irvin, author of the bill, and Representative Smith, chairman of the taxation committee, denied this.

The senate passed the Shaffer bill, creating a commission composed of the governor, state treasurer and attorney general, to select a site and purchase not to exceed 640 acres of land for the erection of a women's reformatory. This will be for the imprisonment of girls over 16 years of age convicted of a felony. The bill has been urged by the clubwomen of the state, headed by Mrs. Harmon, wife of the governor.

No Part of the Five Millions Of the State Treasury Money

Will be Placed in Fayette County Banks on Deposit--Treasurer of State, D. S. Creamer, Announces the Full List of Successful Banks in the Competitive Bidding for the Funds of the State.

Only Two of Fayette County's Banks Are Eligible Under the Rules to Receive the Money on Deposit, and Both of Those Institutions Considered That it Would Not be a Profitable Arrangement for Them Under the Conditions Imposed.

NEARBY BANKS GET A PIECE

When all the state funds have been placed in the depositories which bid for them this week the average rate of interest realized by the state will be very close to 3.62 per cent. State Treasurer Creamer is proud of this result when he compares it with the flat 2.50 per cent. which was paid for state funds previous to his administration.

The active checking account, which amounts to about $3,000,000 at all times, will bring 2.65 per cent to the state, instead of the flat 1.50 per cent. which is used to return.

The banks which will be successful in their bids were announced Thursday by the department, and Treasurer Creamer has figured over the lists until he is practically certain just which banks will receive deposits when the board meets on the first Monday in April.

The state has about $3,000,000 in deposit, this being computed on the date that the bids were opened, and the bids received above 3.50 per cent. will probably get only about half as much as they asked for.

Treasurer Creamer says that this will be a pretty accurate calculation for the 3.50 per cent. bidders to use, because the state funds will have been depleted to some extent before the board meets. Down to 3.55 per cent. each bank will probably get all it asked for. The additional interest secured to the state by the operation of this law, which was fathered and put through by the efforts of Treasurer Creamer, will amount to more than $50,000 a year, as compared to the amount received when the rate was a flat 2 1/2 per cent.

The nearby banks which will share in the distribution of the state's money are The Peoples Savings Bank, Greenfield, which will receive on deposit $10,000, and for which it will pay 4 per cent.; The Farmers'

National Bank of Springfield, which will receive on deposit $50,000, and for which it will pay 3.75 per cent.; American T. and S. Company, Springfield, $50,000 at 3.60 per cent.; Citizens National Bank, Mt. Sterling, $25,000, at 3.60 per cent.; Citizens National Bank, Wilmington, $25,000, at 3.55 per cent.; The Peoples S. and C. B. Company, London, $5,000, at 3.55 per cent.; Mad River National Bank, Springfield, $25,000, at 3.50 per cent.; First National Bank, Sabina, $12,000, at 3.50 per cent.; First National Bank of Mt. Sterling, $50,000, at 3.50 per cent.

Of the five banks in Washington and five in Fayette county, outside of Washington—ten all told—only two are eligible under the law to act as depositories of state funds. The law authorizing the turning out of the state's money at interest requires that only National banks and banks incorporated under the laws of Ohio shall be eligible to hold the money of the state on deposit. Excepting The Midland National Bank and The Washington Savings Bank and Trust Company, the former incorporated under the federal laws and the latter under the laws of Ohio, all the other banks in Fayette county are private banks—partnership organizations.

The officers of the two banks which might have procured a portion of the state funds on deposit declared that the terms under which it could only be secured, made it to them an unprofitable arrangement. At the local banks money is not scarce and the demand of the local market is not overly heavy, so that the prevailing rate of interest in this market is not high.

In order to procure a portion of the funds it would have been necessary for the local bank to bid from 2.50 per cent. to 4 per cent., for the use of the money and either furnish a surety company bond costing one-half of one per cent. or purchase municipal bonds and deposit the bonds to the amount of the money received from the state, with the State Treasurer. This would have brought the cost of the money up to 4 1/2 per cent. or more, and if the account was checked by the state as it has the right to do with active accounts, the bank would be out its fee to the surety company or have left on its hands a considerable amount of low rate municipal bonds.

In view of conditions here prevailing, the local men couldn't see just where they would profit by making a deal for state money.

So it is that the names of none of Washington's banks appear among those who received a piece of the state's big fund of dollars.

Bids For Y. M. C. A. Opened Tonight

All bids for the new Y. M. C. A. building must be on file with the directors of the association before 6 o'clock this evening, because at that time the association has declared no more bids for the erection of the new home will be received.

At 7:30 o'clock the bids will be opened and considered carefully with a view to determining which one is the "lowest and best" bid for the big job.

It is possible that the contract for the work will be let tonight, depending entirely on the number, the character and the amount of the bids examined at tonight's meeting.

The Building Committee and the directors have been making rapid progress of late in completing the preliminaries to the actual work of erecting the big building.

Once past the point of letting the contract the work will go forward with all speed possible with good work and Washington people may now rest assured that the time is not far distant when they will be able "to point with pride" to our own Y. M. C. A. building.

THE DISTINGUISHING "C. H." NOT TO BE DROPPED

The Postoffice Department of Uncle Sam Solves the Problem---That Other Washington in Guernsey County Will be Known as "Old Washington," and We Will Get Washington Addressed Mail First.

The United States Official Guide for March was received Wednesday at the postoffice and changes announced in the name of mailing postoffices were of special interest in that they included the change of "Washington," Guernsey Co. to "Old Washington."

This change is of considerable importance to the business men of our city, who have generally suffered inconvenience in the shipping of freights and delayed mails by the conflicting of two Washingtons.

The change is most welcome to the management of the two postoffices of "Old Washington" and Washington C. H., considerable trouble having been made them by the same name, and the dropping of the C. H., so easily done, after causing inconvenience and even loss.

In the postoffice official records, Washington, Guernsey Co., has been catalogued before Washington C. H., and just above it, making mistakes all the more probable.

The local postoffice management is greatly pleased over the change and expects to find it of much advantage to our city. Mail heretofore misdirected, will now come here first, "Old Washington" being catalogued in the "Os", and this will mean a gain of two or three days' time.

There is no other change of local interest in the last postoffice official guide, the announcement of the associated press that Washington C. H., O., will hereafter be known as plain Washington was not verified in the postal directory.

For purely commercial reasons the postoffice authorities deem that it would be a benefit to drop the "C. H.", since Washington, Guernsey Co., is no longer the rival of old.

Fifty years ago, there was a petition circulated to change back to plain Washington, the name under which Fayette county seat was incorporated in 1811. At that time there were three Washingtons, and mail misdirected took three weeks to make the rounds, Washington, Hardin Co., was later changed to Doia.

Probably sentiment on the dropping of the C. H. would be divided. The adjunct "Court House" has been so long a part of our Washington that to take it away would seem to many to detract from the personnel of the county seat and from that individuality which has attracted interest, by no means merely local, to our growing and prosperous city.

SUIT TO DETACH LANDS

On Thursday afternoon a motion to make the petition filed by Olive Blakeley against the City of Washington more definite and certain was argued in the common Pleas court and submitted to Judge Carpenter who has not yet disposed of the matter.

The action is one brought by Mrs. Blakeley to have certain lands now included within the corporate limits detached from the corporation, the claim being made that the lands are only farm lands and should not be listed as city property.

Post & Reid represent Mrs. Blakeley and Harry M. Rankin the City of Washington.

Mrs. Little Baughn entertained Myra Davison, of Circleville, Wednesday evening for the L. O. T. M. meeting.

Scientist Who Couldn't Light a Fire. Lord Kelvin, like Lord Morley, once amused a Scottish audience with a display of ignorance. At a lecture in Edinburgh, with Lord Kelvin in the chair, the Duke of Argyll was taken suddenly ill. "When the aged peer was carried down to one of the anterooms," said a local paper, "one of the first things to be thought of was the lighting of a fire, and this task was tackled by the duke's host, Lord Kelvin. But instead of placing some paper in the grate and some wood on that in the orthodox manner he amazed the on-lookers by desperate efforts to kindle a handful of sticks at a gas burner."

Ordinary mortals may be pardoned for taking some satisfaction in the fact that even so great a philosopher as Lord Kelvin did not know how to light a fire.

Characterized by more than ordinary brilliancy and charm was the six o'clock dinner given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Peddicord and Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Hughey.

The Peddicord home is peculiarly adapted to the requirements of generous entertaining, with its spacious rooms, thrown together with wide openings, and abloom with flowers, blazing with lights, made effective environment for an unusual array of beautiful evening toilets.

Mrs. Peddicord received in a very handsome gown of pale blue brocade satin, trimmed in pearl ornaments and lace.

Mrs. Hughey was charming in flowered marquisette, with broad bands of pink satin.

It was a small table dinner, with fifty guests seated at once, an unprecedented number for such an elaborate affair.

Clusters of shell pink carnations and garlands of smilax embellished the tables, the effect throughout the rooms exceedingly pretty.

The dinner itself was perfect, both in its exquisite appointments and the elaborate courses served.

A game of progressive five hundred followed the dinner, Mrs. Del Lannum and Mrs. Frank L. Stutsen winning the favors.

Mrs. Peddicord and Mrs. Hughey entertain with a luncheon tomorrow.

CRAIG BROS.

Not One Cent Received Or Paid Out

The daily report which County Treasurer Phil E. Rothrock is compelled to file with County Auditor A. B. Jencks for Wednesday is worthy of remark in that during that whole day not one single cent was received and not one single cent was paid out at the treasurer's office.

When, if ever, before this state of absolute stagnation existed in the office of the County Treasurer so far as the public funds are concerned is not now recalled.

While, of course, the County Treasurer has his busy seasons of both paying and receiving and while there may be many days between tax-paying times when he receives nothing, yet there is generally some person on hand with a bill or order to be paid. When the heavy "drags" are "over" there is a constant and steady drain for little accounts which keep the money chest shaken up as a usual thing.

Wednesday seems to be a day apart when the "nothing doing" sign could have been very properly hung up at the treasurer's office.

A GOOD APPEARANCE.

The fact that people are provided with warm houses, comfortable clothing, plenty of good things to eat and beautiful surroundings on which to feast their eyes, and in fact an abundance of all the material good things for both the inner and the outer man may all be true and still that same people be not even prepared for the proper conception of living in the higher and better sense—the true conception of the relation of man to man and man to the universe than even the lowest animals.

It's a fact. A community may be rich to a marked extent and still bear absolutely no evidence of a high mental development. Strange as this may appear it is only too often found to be absolutely true.

If a community pretends to high ideals of intelligence and culture and then its people practice the opposite by devoting their time, their energy and their money for those things which make for the comfort or the pleasure of the individual man, we are both false and absurd at the same time.

Too often the people of a community confuse material prosperity—property possessions either in individuals or municipalities—for the higher and more real prosperity.

Splendid streets, magnificent public buildings, excellent sidewalks and the like are all well enough in their way, but after all they only appeal to the selfish material man.

It not infrequently happens that more of real good to humanity, present and future, comes out of a community the tax duplicate, of which would not reflow the public buildings of another and boastedly prosperous municipality.

After all, communities are not different from individuals, and the character of the individuals who compose a community nearly always shows itself to the keen observer at the first glance around, when once inside the limits of a municipality. Can't be otherwise any more than a man can help betraying his true characteristics by the clothing he put on his back. Cities and towns can be overdressed just the same as a man or a woman can be overdressed, and in the one case as in the other, by so doing, simply call attention to the lack of the higher characteristics.

To fall below the standard in the maintenance of those public institutions which make for the uplift of the mental and moral manhood of a community, is a sure sign that the individuals of that community are not standard proof on the better and nobler thoughts and works.

An outward and extensive display of activity in other and material lines falls far short of covering the shortcomings and but calls attention to those better things in life, of which there is a shortage.

The empty-handed man or woman by donning flashy clothing only emphasizes the empty stare of the shallow countenance.

A community by expensive public buildings and elaborate improvements which appeal to the physical in man, only attracts attention to and invites unfavorable comment upon, the better things of life which are conspicuous by their absence.

"Fine feathers don't make fine birds," neither do fine clothes make fine men and women, and neither do fine public improvements make a fine city.

It is not necessary, by any means, nor is it helpful indeed, to neglect the material things of life, but those things should only keep pace with the higher mental and moral development.

Senator La Follette hasn't found out what Taft's intentions are toward Mexico, but he's dead sure they're wrong.

That Democratic landslide is still on the job in Maine, where they've been pulling off a bunch of municipal elections.

Next thing some editor, disgusted with guess-stuff, will have his war correspondent pinched for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Buzzard's Bay no longer has a tophiner in "its midst" but it got back on the map as the temporary home of a pair of swell burglars.

Of course Prof. Steiner, of Des Moines, who made a bull's eye by saying, "The poor underdog gets a lot of preaching—and that is all," knows that the maxim of today is, "Kick him while he's down."

POETRY FOR TODAY

MAYBE

There'll come a time when woman-kind
Will always be of settled mind;
When all that sex we know as fair
Will wear their own, their native hair—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when man will roam
Infrequently away from home;
When he'll respectfully decline
To stay out late and juggle wine—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when candidates
Will never promise consulates
And other jobs unless they should Be positive of making good—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when poets will Possess the seams of the till;
And editors will never bluff,
But hurry up and buy their stuff—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when plumbers
Omit all fiction from a bill;
When dairymen will never jump
To swell their output by the pump—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when suns are Cold,
The stars are black and babies old;
When it will be our earthly noon
When overhead, suspended the moon—
Maybe!

GAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Miss Agnes Deane-Cameron has been sent to England by the Canadian government to lecture on the advisability of emigrating to Canada.

Mme. Lallie Charles is a woman photographer of women who has won eminent success by what art critics call artistic merit. She has made portraits of most of the women prominent in aristocratic British society.

The Duchess Deane, a daughter of the rich Singer family, was once taking part in some amateur theatricals at Ragaz when a New York girl said to her mother, "Is she a real duchess?"
"Yes, my dear," the mother answered.
"Yes, real, but machine made."

Miss Mabel Boardman, the well known philanthropist of Washington, has more political power than any other woman has had in the last twenty years. The president is her friend, and many senators and representatives discuss affairs of state with her.

Mrs. Porfirio Diaz, wife of the president of Mexico, is a patrician, highly educated and refined, but the opposite of her husband in many respects. She has a delightful personality, and, though little heard of outside her own country, she is regarded with much affection by the people of Mexico.

Swope Refused A New Trial

During this week Judge Carpenter of the Common Pleas court, has been occupied hearing motions, demurrers and other preliminary matters. Some motions for a new trial have been argued by counsel and submitted also.

Wednesday the defendants' motion for a new trial in the case of Larrimer vs. Swope was argued and submitted by counsel, Mr. Post for Swope and Mr. Jones for Larrimer, and was overruled by the court, and judgment on the verdict ordered enforced by the clerk.

The case was tried a few weeks ago and resulted in a verdict for Larrimer for the full amount claimed by him as due for some hogs sold to Swope, the latter disputing the claim upon the ground that the hogs were diseased.

After the overruling of the motion for a new trial, Mr. Swope signified his intention of prosecuting error to the Circuit court to obtain a reversal of the verdict and judgment of the jury and court.

HOUSES ARE SCARCE IN OLD CHILLICOTHE

Influx of Workingmen and Railroad Officials, Together With the Increase of Population on Other Accounts, Has Made the House Problem in Chillicothe a Serious One---Ancient Capital On a Real Boom.

According to the Chillicothe News Advertiser that city is suffering at the present time from a house famine. There has been such an increase in population within the past month as to take up all vacant houses that are in any way desirable. Real estate men say that for every house vacated there are three or four applicants.

This condition has been brought about by the increasing forces at the manufacturing plants, the removal of the district offices of the Bell Telephone Co., and the location of two crews of construction engineers—one for the N. & W. and another for the B. & O. S. W., the latter making estimates on a double track from that place to Cincinnati and they will be there for a year or two. The Ohio-National Manufacturing company, which took over the old Logan plant has brought in several men with families and more are to come as soon as they can be located. The Scioto Auto company which is just getting started is employing sixteen men and will be adding to its force every week.

Although Chillicothe has built a large number of new houses in the past ten years than in any thirty years in its history the demand is still short of the supply.

MUCH OUT OF ORDINARY OBSERVATION ENGINE

Passes Over B. & O. S. W. From Parkersburg to Chillicothe and Thence on the N. & W. to Virginia on Wednesday, Creating a Great Deal of Comment---New York Central Officials Taking a View.

The New York Central ran an inspection train for some of its officials over the B. & O. S. W. from Parkersburg to Chillicothe Wednesday morning, where it took the N. & W. and proceeded to Williamson, W. Va. Engineer A. B. Davis and Conductor Black brought the train to Chillicothe.

The engine of the train occasioned a good deal of curiosity among those along the line who had never seen an inspection engine before. The tank of the engine is encased by a cab that is lined with glass and furnished for the use of the officials. In this way the officials can view the road from the front and both sides while the engine is in motion.

The engineer and fireman work in a cab to the rear of the engine. The observation car is lighted with electricity and furnished with water. The heat from the engine over which the car is encased is circulated by draft fans and can be utilized for heating the cars.

Besides the observation engine, the train is composed of a tender, a sleeping coach and a day coach.

Neighboring Cities May Witness Flight

Of Aeroplane---Famous Aviator Offers to Fly from Portsmouth to Columbus, Stopping at Certain Cities, for $5000.

Senator Patterson of Pike county, and others from that section of the state, who have interested themselves in an aeroplane flight from Portsmouth to Columbus on July 4, are trying to interest local parties in the various cities along the line in the project. They hope to raise $1,000 for a stop off in Circleville and the same amount for a stop in Chillicothe and Lancaster.

The celebrated Glenn Curtiss has been secured to make the flight and his price is $5,000 for the attempt. The proposed stop-over places are Pikeston, Chillicothe, Circleville, Lancaster and Columbus, and it is hoped to raise some money in each place for the exhibition. The flight is to take place early in the afternoon of July 4th.

If the project can be arranged the object is to have an Curtiss make a flight over each city and alight in all of them, giving everybody a fine chance to see what a heavier than air bird machine is like. The committee is at work now seeing what can be done.

John W. Faringer Dead

Former Cashier of the Old Merchants and Farmers Bank of This City, Died at His Lancaster Home, Wednesday, in the 81st Year of His Age.

Very many residents of Washington and Fayette county remember Mr. John W. Faringer, who was for a number of years in the late seventies and until the latter part of the eighties, cashier of the old Merchants and Farmers Bank of this city. Mr. Faringer left shortly after the M. and F. Bank ceased to carry on business and removed with his family to his former home at Lancaster, where he has since resided.

Mr. Faringer died Wednesday morning and concerning his death the Lancaster Daily Eagle says:

After a weary illness superinduced by a stroke of paralysis some years ago, Mr. John W. Faringer, one of Lancaster's pioneer residents, passed from earth about nine o'clock Wednesday morning at his late residence, 190 1/2 North Maple street.

He was eighty-one years of age on the 27th of last February and is survived by his widow, who was formerly Miss Samantha Flood, also one son, Mr. John W. Faringer, Jr.

Deceased at one time was cashier of the Hocking Valley bank, but resigned this prominent position for the purpose of entering into partnership with Mr. John's Wildermuth in the grocery business, buying out the well known proprietor, A. Bauman, who went west for a period of years, but on returning to Lancaster, repurchased the business. It was known under the firm name of Wildermuth & Faringer. He was also identified with the Farmers and Citizens bank and was for a time cashier in a bank at Washington C. H., and of recent years served as bookkeeper for a number of Lancaster firms.

Arrangements for funeral will be announced later.

MAD CAT SCARE AT KINGSTON

Here is something a little bit out of the ordinary in the rabies line taken from the Circleville Daily Union-Herald.

Kingston had a mad cat scare and several persons are wondering what will be the outcome of the bites they received.

A feline belonging to D. W. Kuhn caused all the alarm.

Monday evening the cat acted strangely and finally made a rush at Mrs. Kuhn and bit her on the ankle.

Tuesday the same cat bit Harry Sims three times on the calf of the leg, and inflicted several wounds upon Charles Fox. All had their wounds cauterized. Mr. Sims seems to have the worst wounds of the three.

The cat was finally cornered and killed and its body sent to Columbus Tuesday.

About three weeks ago a dog belonging to Mr. Kuhn died under peculiar circumstances, and the cat acted just the same way the dog did, excepting that the dog did not try to bite anybody. Sunday morning a cat belonging to Elmer Compton died, also acting strangely. These animals, it was thought, had been poisoned, but since the last animal's case was similar and it had bitten so many persons, it is feared that all of them had rabies.

Washington Case Is Still Very Interesting

Attorney Says Negro Educator Mistaken For Kidnap.

New York, March 23.—Booker T. Washington's lawyer, Wilford Smith, announced that he had discovered what he called the real motive for the assault on Dr. Washington in front of 11½ West Sixty-third street, on last Sunday night. He declared that Mrs. Albert Ulrich, the woman who says Dr. Washington spoke to her, mistook him for a negro who had tried to steal her 19-year-old daughter by a former husband two or three weeks ago. She told her husband, Lawyer Smith says, that same negro was hanging around the apartment house on Sunday night, and the beating followed.

The lawyer also asserted that on the strength of new evidence he has turned up regarding the episode he will ask District Attorney Whitman to try to have Ulrich indicted for felonious assault. He said two or three witnesses would swear that Dr. Washington did not enter the apartment house beyond the vestibule and that he could not have attempted to peep into anybody's flat, and that at least one witness will tell about the beating as he saw it from an upper window of the same house. Who these witnesses are Smith said he couldn't say at present.

Dr. Washington received from President Taft a letter in which the president said he was greatly distressed at his misfortune, and expressed sympathy and confidence.

Colored Convict a Suicide.

Columbus, O., March 23.—Robert Jackson, colored, serving 15 years in the penitentiary from Highland county for horse-stealing, committed suicide by drinking cyanide of potassium in his cell.

OBJECTS TO METHODS

Ohio State University President Raps Billy Sunday.

Columbus, O., March 23.—"I will fight the coming of Billy Sunday to Columbus," said President W. O. Thompson in his weekly address in the O. S. U. chapel.

President Thompson gave as his reason that Sunday did not treat God and things pertaining to religion with sufficient respect.

"He is a Presbyterian minister like myself," said Dr. Thompson, "but I can not entertain such methods as he employs."

Stormy Matrimonial Career

Baltimore, March 23.—Mrs. Mabel Michael Ford's second elopement, like the first, has ended in the divorce court. In papers secretly filed in the circuit court she petitions for divorce from her second husband, Lawrence Ford, son of Rear Admiral John D. Ford, retired. Mrs. Ford's first husband was Frank Brown, Jr.

Refuse to Sell to Militia

Gillespie, Ill., March 23.—Despite the protection of the state militia, Nos. 1 and 3 of Superior Coal company, between Gillespie and Benld did not resume operations. The miners of the local union refused to return to work until the troops have been recalled. The merchants of Benld have refused to sell their goods to the state guards.

1. To earn money to buy the necessities of life. These we must have and it takes money to obtain them. Simple promises to pay will not satisfy the grocer, or the landlord. "Millionaire Forger" Paroled.

Columbus, O., March 23.—Walter Mack, better known in criminal circles as the "millionaire forger" sent up from Franklin county March 12, 1909, to serve five years for forgery, was given a conditional pardon by Governor Harmon. Mack was released upon the condition that he go to Wabash, Ind., where he has a brother and that he go to work there. In case he is ever convicted of another felony, he will be returned to the penitentiary to complete the remainder of his term, which expires July 11, 1912.

Minister Dies at Revival.

Lima, O., March 23.—Just as he took his seat on the platform in the choir corner of the tabernacle, preaching the Billy Sunday revival services, Rev. P. P. Pope, pastor of Grace M. E. church, wavered and fell into the arms of brother ministers. He was carried outside, but was dead when physicians reached his side. Death was the result of an apoplectic stroke, following excitement.

Probers Favor Prison Farm

Freiner Probers Will Not Dig Up Old Penitentiary Scandals.

Columbus, O., March 23.—There is to be no probe into the past at the penitentiary. Instead, the Freiner probe committee, appointed to investigate a new prison proposition, will devote all its time to looking to the future. It now seems settled it will recommend a farm prison, located within a radius of 50 or 75 miles from Columbus.

A bill is to be introduced and steps will be taken to secure its early consideration. It will provide the initial appropriation and a prison commission of three members, to be appointed by the governor, to have charge of the building. No special site is to be recommended in the bill and the committee will not go so far as to suggest that it shall be in Franklin county.
